Frisco Police and Nixle Join Forces

FRISCO, TX – Beginning today, the Frisco Police Department will begin utilizing Nixle in order to provide real-time, neighborhood-level information via text and email to the citizens of Frisco. Nixle is a free service tailored around the needs of public safety organizations that allows for timely and geographic-specific community announcements, press releases, crime alerts, and more.

Nixle will be taking the place of CrimeWeb, a service previously used by the department to communicate with the public. The Frisco Police Department will no longer be publishing on CrimeWeb and encourages those users familiar with that service to register a new account with Nixle.

To register for a free Nixle account, go to www.Nixle.com and setup an account today. For more information about Nixle or its use by the Frisco Police Department, please visit the department's web site at www.FriscoTexas.gov/Police.
